THE PLATNER

In 1966, the Platner Collection captured the “decorative, gentle, graceful” shapes that were beginning to infiltrate the modern vocabulary. The iconic lounge chair and the dining set are created by welding curved steel rods to circular and semi-circular frames, simultaneously serving as structure and ornament.

THE BRIDE'S VEIL

At every angle, these chairs and loveseats offer a visual treat.

THE BIBENDUM

Designed by Eileen Gray in 1926. Not only was this furniture designer and pioneer of the modern movement Irish but she was killing it in a male dominated industry at the time of the suffragettes. Counting Picasso and Le Corbusier as mates, she kept some pretty lofty company.

Above all, the Bibendum Sessel Frame Black stands out as one of the most symbolic pieces of 20th Century furniture. It uses chromed steel tubing combined with a beech frame and is upholstered in Polyurethane with a polyester filling.

THE CHESTERFIELD

The chesterfield sofa is not just a piece of furniture but a piece of history. Successfully exported through the colonies of the British Empire by the officials of the Royal Army (U.S.A, Canada, Australia...) it soon became a worldwide peerless emblem of British style. The chesterfield sofa conjures images of formally attired gentlemen sequestered in a dark paneled study, sipping brandy and smoking cigars. The Victorian era saw the chesterfield as the key piece in living rooms, where gentlemen relaxed while their wives sat in chairs crafting needlepoint.
